

input

In a function, a value that is entered into the function to yield an output.