

Summary: World War II

Start of the War

The Great Depression had ruined economies. People wanted strong leaders to solve their problems. Dictators rose to power. In 1933, Adolf Hitler became Germany's dictator. Hitler belonged to a political party called the Nazis. They believed in fascism. Hitler also encouraged racism. He blamed the Jewish people for Germany's problems.

The leaders of Germany, Italy, and Japan encouraged nationalism. They attacked other countries. Joseph Stalin was the leader of the Soviet Union. Stalin and Hitler agreed not to attack each other. This allowed Hitler to attack other countries. Germany formed an alliance with Italy and Japan. These nations were called the Axis Powers.

Britain and France formed an alliance called the Allied Powers. They tried to stop Germany by signing an agreement with Hitler. The Allies would allow Hitler to keep the land his armies had already taken if Hitler stopped attacking other countries.

In 1939, Hitler broke his promise. Germany attacked Poland. The Allies declared war on Germany. Then Italy and Japan declared war on the Allies. By the end of 1941, Germany controlled most of Europe. But, Germany did not control Britain. The Germans bombed Britain many times. United States President Franklin D. Roosevelt helped the British, by sending them equipment and supplies. Most Americans did not want to fight in Europe again.

America Enters the War

Japan wanted to control other Asian countries. Japan invaded China and planned to invade other Asian nations too. But, the Japanese knew that the U.S. Navy could stop this plan. In 1941, the Japanese attacked the U.S. Navy at Pearl Harbor. Thousands of Americans died. The next day, Congress declared war on Japan. The United States joined the Allies and entered World War II.

Before You Read

Find and underline each vocabulary word.

fascism noun, when a government completely controls its country's economy, culture, and people's lives dictator noun, a ruler who has total control of a country and its people racism noun, the idea that one race, or group of people, is better than all other races

After You Read

REVIEW How did the Allies try to stop Germany before September 1, 1939? Underline the sentence that tells the answer.

REVIEW Why did Congress declare war on Japan? What happened at Pearl Harbor in 1941? Circle the sentence that tells the answer.